

Bill Ayers
Auto Aero

Provided by Bill's daughter, Gevinson

Bill went to the Air Force Academy and graduated with an aeronautical engineering degree and a master's degree in laser guided technology; the first masters graduating class in that area. He went on to serve in Vietnam by flying fighters and eventually retired as a Lt. Col. Working at the pentagon on black ops initiatives. He was a consultant to the defense department for several years thereafter and then lead the board for a nursing home company, a small jet airline, and started an internet service provider.

He passed away April 3rd 2002.